

Masks and Aesop's Fables

Student Name: _____

The student created a comedy mask and a tragedy mask.	Both masks were completed.	One mask was completed.	No mask was completed.
The student modified one of the masks to create a new character from an Aesop fable.	One mask was fully modified.	One mask was partially modified, or incomplete.	No mask was done.
The student wrote (dictated) information about the modified mask including the fable's name; the character's name; and the lesson taught or learned by the character.	All three elements are present in the writing.	Two elements are present in the writing.	One element is present in the writing.	No element is present in the writing.
The student participated in the acting of "The Tortoise and the Hare" by using voice, body, and appropriate mask with others in the class.	All three elements were there with full participation.	Two elements were there by mostly participating.	One element was there with little participation.	No participation
The student grouped cooperatively with others to act out a fable using masks.	The group successfully acted out the fable with full participation.	The group acted out the fable with some participation or cooperation problems.	The group attempted to act out the fable with lots of problems in participation and cooperation.	No participation
The student read and answered five quiz questions.	4-5 answers correct	2-3 answers correct	0-1 answers correct	